Oxfordshire's key road raised at Parliament in bid for improvement

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

CHANCELLOR of the Exchequer George Osborne pledged to discuss improving the Lodge Hill junction of the A34, after Oxford West and Abingdon MP Nicola Blackwood raised the matter in the House of Commons.

Mr Osborne told Ms Blackwood he would meet her to talk about improvements to the busy trunk road while taking questions last week.

Ms Blackwood said she is keen to discuss turning the Lodge Hill junction into a diamond interchange, to help alleviate traffic in the area.

"I am clear that we need to see improvements on the A34 as quickly as possible in order to achieve sustainable economic growth in Oxfordshire, particularly at a time when much needed housing is planned for the area," she said.

"I am delighted that the Chancellor has agreed to meet me, and I intend to raise not only the need for urgent investment along the whole A34 route in Oxfordshire, but also the specific problems in Abingdon and the need for a diamond junction at Lodge Hill.

"This daily misery for families and commuters cannot continue."

Speaking in the House of Commons, Mr Osborne said: "We are making an enormous number of improvements to the UK road system and spending more on transport and road improvement than the previous government.

"We are also investing in science, and I remember making a useful visit with [Ms Blackwood] to her constituency to see the results of the money that we have contributed to Begbroke Science Park.

"I will certainly have a meeting with her about the A34."

Building southbound slip roads at Lodge Hill is something that has been discussed repeatedly in the past.

It is understood the slip roads weren't included when the interchange was first built because of concerns that traffic would use the A34 just to get from one side of Abingdon to the other.

Sandy Lovatt, leader of Abingdon Town Council, said: "I've been travelling around Abingdon at peak times recently and it's atrocious.

"So many people need to go south on the A34 and it really surprises me we haven't got a junction in that direction.

"I think Lodge Hill would be a good thing and we're making progress, but it has to be thought of in conjunction with the flow of traffic on Dunmore Road as well."

The news comes as Oxfordshire County Council's cabinet is due to discuss turning the Milton Interchange near Didcot into a hamburger roundabout at a meeting next Tuesday.

Crowds congratulate future king on baby

By Jack Johnson
jack@taylornewspapers.co.uk

PRINCE William opened a new £21million building at Oxford University on Monday just hours after the announcement he is to become a dad for the second time.

The Duke of Cambridge, dressed in a blue suit and tie, arrived in a black Range Rover to greet crowds with a wave and smile.

His wife, Kate Middleton, the Duchess of Cambridge, was expected to be at his side, but had to cancel at the last minute because she was suffering from morning sickness.

As he opened the building Prince William said of Kate: "She is feeling okay. It has been a tricky few days – a week or so – but basically we are thrilled, it's great news.

"We are hoping things settle down and she feels better."

Dozens gathered in St Margaret's Road to meet the future king as he made his way to St Hugh's College to open The Dickson Poon University of Oxford China Centre Building.

Members of the public shouted 'congratulations' as William walked through the gates where he was met by Tim Stevenson OBE, Her Majesty's Lord Lieutenant of Oxfordshire.

Mintaah Djin, a business student at St Hugh's, saw William as he walked into the college and said: "He shook a few hands, he was nice and was regal."

Larry and Kathy Baddour, from Minnesota, United States, said seeing William was the "most exciting part" of their holiday.

They added: "It was wonderful. We planned the Oxfordshire part of our trip to be here around this time.

"It was such an adrenaline high to see him, it was such a treat."

Jeanette Oloo from Kenya, who is in Oxford visiting her daughter Yvonne, said she was "very excited".

"I have never seen him at close quarters, only on TV," she added.

"It was very special, we were very happy to see him."

The new centre is designed for academics whose research and teaching interests are related to China.

It has a library, reading room, 63 student bedrooms, a 100-seat lecture theatre, a dining area and conference and seminar facilities.

The centre is named after Hong Kong philanthropist Dickson Poon who donated £10m towards the cost of the building.

He met Prince William to open the centre in a traditional Chinese ribbon cutting ceremony.

Kate cancels visit due to morning sickness

KATE Middleton was forced to drop out of her trip to Oxford on Monday because she is suffering from morning sickness - pregnant with her second child.

News of her pregnancy was welcomed across the world on Monday.

She was expected to accompany Prince William to open The Dickson Poon University of Oxford China Centre Building at St Hugh's College.

But Kate cancelled that morning as she is suffering with acute morning sickness, which she also suffered from while pregnant with Prince George.

Clarence House confirmed Kate's pregnancy on Monday morning and said she was being "treated by doctors at Kensington Palace".

"The Queen and members of both families are delighted with the news that Their Royal Highnesses are expecting their second child," it added.

Prime Minister and Witney MP David Cameron tweeted: "Many congratulations to the Duke and Duchess of Cambridge.

"I'm delighted by the happy news that they're expecting another baby."

'Voice of the people'

Jack Fuller, 28, student, Oxford:
"I was looking forward to seeing her, but to hear she is pregnant is amazing news."

Carrin Ramjhon, 75, retired, Oxford:
"I was a little bit disappointed she wasn't in Oxford, but I am pleased that she is pregnant and I wish her well."

Joanno Jakubic and Anna Szkaradek, both 21 and students from Oxford:
"We were quite disappointed that Kate wasn't here, but we wish her well. We hope for a girl!"

Edward Anyaeji, 39, lecturer, London:
"It is brilliant news. George needs a sibling and it is good that it has come quickly."

Crowds out in force for annual Dragon Boat Day

Get ready for Heritage weekend

• Last year's heritage weekend in Abingdon

A FIRST World War-themed heritage day will see Abingdon's Market Place taken back to the early 20th century on Saturday.

The day aims to commemorate life in Abingdon as it was in 1914, with actors in period costume alongside a range of activities and live music.

Visitors will be able to have their photograph taken in wartime outfits, while local shops and manufacturers will have war-themed products on sale.

It has been organised by Abingdon Museum, and curator Jane Bowen said: "The event has been a wonderful opportunity for community involvement and lots of local groups have volunteered their help."

The event is part of Heritage Open Days, which will also see 15 properties in the town not normally open to the public available to have a look round.

Abingdon's Guildhall, the former magistrates' court and St Ethelwold's House on East St Helen's Street are some of the venues that will be open over the weekend.

Alastair Fear, who helps organise the event in Abingdon, said: "These are part of our heritage and it's important that people can go inside occasionally.

"We usually get a positive response."

Events in the Market Place are running from 10am until 4pm. For more details, go to abingdonheritage.co.uk.

ABINGDON'S Dragon Boat Day is expected to have raised in excess of £20,000 for charity, after thousands of people watched the action from the banks of the River Thames on Sunday.

Around 20 teams raced down the river head to head in their boats, starting by the lock heading towards the finish line near Abingdon Bridge.

And it culminated in a tense final, which saw Team Footsteps triumph over RAF Brize Norton's team Suspicious Floaters and Jenner Institute's The Vaccines.

Andrew Aitken, from Witney, was part of the winning team who were raising money for the Footsteps Foundation, which offers financial assistance to children with cerebral palsy and neuromotor disorders.

He said: "We never set out to win it, but it was good and everyone really enjoyed it.

"My daughter Sophia attends Footsteps physiotherapy, which is the foundation thay are linked to, and they' have been very good with her.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"She had a life-changing operation last year to try and help her to walk, and Footsteps has helped with the last part of the rehabilitation since the operation.

"Our target was £2,500. Everyone was fundraising individually so we're still waiting on totals coming in, but I'm fairly confident that we've hit it."

The Dragon Boat Day was organised by the Rotary Club of Abingdon Vesper, with this year being the 15th time the event has been run.

Teams raise money for their own charities, with a third of the total going to the rotary club's selected good causes.

Richard Benton, spokesman for the rotary club, said: "It was a beautiful sunny day, lots of people came down and we did very well.

"The competitors had a great time and all enjoyed themselves, and so did the spectators – they thought it was superb."

Crowds flock to city for annual street fair

THOUSANDS turned out for the annual St Giles Fair earlier this week as fun fair rides dominated the streets of Oxford on Monday and Tuesday.

Ferris wheels, bumper cars, waltzers, a house of mirrors and much more took over St Giles for the two-day event.

The fair has historic relevance to Oxford with the first dating back to 1625 when it was a parish festival celebrating the feast of the patron saint, St Giles.

By Andy Allens
news@taylornewspapers.co.uk

In the 18th century it became a toy fair and in the early 19th century was a general children's fair; growing in popularity during the mid to late Victorian times.

The fair always takes place on the Monday and Tuesday following the first Sunday after St Giles' Day, September 1.

Body discovered inside van at Cowley's Burger King car park

THE death of a man whose body was found in a van parked at a Burger King in Cowley last Thursday is being treated as unexplained by police.

A member of the public raised the alarm after spotting fluid leaking out the silver Mercedes van in Oxford Retail Park at 12.28pm.

Police broke into the van and found the man, believed to be in his 40s, already dead.

Thames Valley Police Chief Inspector Yvette Hitch said: "Police broke in and sadly found the body of a male who was deceased.

• Thames Valley Police Chief Inspector Yvette Hitch).

"We are treating it as an unexplained death – there is no indication of violence

"We have not yet identified the man, that is our priority to inform his next of kin.

"We are still examining the body and gathering evidence so we can work out what has gone on here."

Burger King staff told police officers the van has been parked outside the fast food chain for about a week.

• Police guarding the scene in front of the van where a man's body was found.

Police believe the liquid coming from the van is likely to have been bodily fluid of some sort.

A blue tent has been put up around the van for police to carry out their work.

About 10 officers, pathologists, and detectives were at the scene.

The Burger King car was cordoned off throughout the afternoon.

Woman tells of support after devastating blaze

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

A RADLEY woman whose thatched home was destroyed by fire three years ago was the guest of honour at an event marking 15 years of Oxfordshire Fire and Emergency Support (FES) last Friday.

Caroline Steinsberg, her husband Graham and children Sophia, Victoria and Henry were forced to run for their lives when their cottage in Lower Radley, near Abingdon, burnt down in March 2011.

Volunteers from Oxfordshire FES, which is run by the British Red Cross, helped the Steinsberg family immediately after the fire by providing them with clean clothes, food and drink.

"It was terrifying but at the same time it was so surreal," said Caroline. "I was just so relieved we all got out safely.

"We shall never forget the comfort of being taken to the Red Cross vehicle for tea and reassurance, having stood out in the cold watching our house burn down.

"The comfort bags we were given were so useful until we were able to go shopping again – I have never been so grateful for anything!

"The children really appreciated their soft toys and my son still has the lion he was given on that night."

Oxfordshire FES was set up in 1999, and works across the UK to help people in the aftermath of a fire or other emergency.

Last Friday's event was held at the Red Cross House in Colwell Drive, Abingdon, to celebrate the volunteers and the work they do.

Nathan Travis, deputy chief fire officer for Oxfordshire, said: "The effect on homeowners and their families of house fires or other incidents that severely damage properties can be absolutely devastating.

"Oxfordshire FES is an excellent and invaluable support network for those unfortunate enough to encounter such an experience.

"I am delighted that our joint-working has reached the 15-year mark and would like to thank everybody who has been involved in this important work."

Scientists study pregnancy growth

OXFORD University scientists have developed research that can measure the growth of babies both during and out of pregnancy.

The team, called the Intergrowth-21st Project, of 300 clinicians from 27 institutions, including Oxford, have produced the international standards for the growing foetus and for newborns.

Both of the papers were published in the medical journal The Lancet last Friday, September 5.

The standards can depict a desirable pattern of healthy babies during pregnancy, by using ultrasound, and after, by measuring weight, length and head circumference.

Senior author Professor José Villar of Oxford University, said: "Being able to identify millions of additional undernourished babies at birth provides an opportunity for them to receive nutritional support and targeted treatment.

"The huge improvement in health care we can achieve is unprecedented."

The project involved 60,000 pregnant women in the UK, Brazil, China, India, Italy, Kenya, Oman and USA.

Measurements of weight, length, and head circumference for more than 20,000 babies were used to generate the standards.

New stores to provide 150 jobs in the county

UP to 150 jobs will be created when two homeware stores open in Abingdon and Didcot this month.

Discount retailer B&M is opening a new store at Fairacres Retail Park in Abingdon next Thursday, in the place of the former Homestore & More shop.

This will then be followed by the Didcot store's launch two days later in the former Focus store at Wallingford Road Retail Park.

Both stores will open at 9am.

Finishing touches are currently being made to both sites, with the company saying that around 150 people will be employed across the two stores.

Darryl Neville, B&M's area manager for Oxfordshire, said: "We're really proud to be opening not one but two new stores across Oxfordshire.

"These are creating up to 150 new jobs and playing our part in the local community.

"We are excited to get the doors open this month and have two teams of colleagues who are willing to provide great value products and world class service to our customers."

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

B&M currently has two branches open in Oxfordshire – one in Templars Square Shopping Centre in Cowley and another in Wantage.

Abingdon's B&M will be a home store while Didcot will have a home store with garden centre, compared to the Wantage and Cowley bargains stores.

Emma East of Didcot First said: "It's a good thing really because the Focus site has been empty for quite some time, so it's nice to have a new business come into town.

"I would imagine it would attract people from the Wallingford area as well as they haven't got a store there."

Sandy Lovatt, leader of Abingdon Town Council, said: "They're a growing name, and Fairacres will be quite pleased they've got a tenant. I'm happy to see Fairacres looking prosperous, because if that was derelict it would be bad news."

He added he didn't think the store would draw shoppers away from Abingdon town centre.

Swimmers take to Blenheim's open water

OLYMPIC medallists Keri-Anne Payne and Duncan Goodhew joined more than 800 swimmers for a national swimming event at Blenheim Palace last Sunday.

The British Gas SwimBritain event is held at 11 locations across the country with Blenheim hosting the open water event.

On Sunday, participants competed as teams of four to complete relays of 500m and 1,000m and raced alongside Keri-Anne and Duncan.

Keri-Anne also went head-to-head with her husband and three time Olympian David Carry, beating him by 12 seconds.

The 26-year-old Olympic silver medallist and double world champion said: "British Gas SwimBritain is a great event as it encourages more people to swim, which is something I'm very passionate about.

"I hope SwimBritain will inspire some future champions."

Duncan, an Olympic gold medallist, added: "It was great to be a part of SwimBritain for a second year.

"The fantastic achievements of British swimmers have seen the popularity of swimming rise and I'm excited to be a part of this."

Repair works

PLAYHATCH: Work to repair a flood damaged road that links Oxfordshire to Berkshire is due to begin on Monday.

The B478 Playhatch Road was left with a cracked surface after the floods at the beginning of the year, and has been reduced to one lane for safety reasons ever since.

It is hoped that repairs will be completed by mid-November.

Big Splash event

OXFORD: Save Temple Cowley Pools is hosting a second Big Splash event on Sunday to help raise funds for their campaign to keep the facility open.

Over 100 people attended the first Big Splash at the pool, which raised £500 for the group.

Oxford City Council is looking to close the pool, and Save Temple Cowley Pools are working on their own bid to take it over to keep it open.

Sunday's event runs from 3pm to 5pm.

Tie ceremony marks start of new school year

AN OXFORDSHIRE free school celebrated the start of the new academic year and the unveiling of its West Wing with a tie-giving ceremony last Wednesday.

Year 7 pupils arriving at Heyford Park Free School near Bicester for their first day were awarded ties to signify the house they will represent at the ceremony and assembly.

The school opened last year on the site of the former RAF base at Upper Heyford, initially teaching out of portakabins.

And the assembly also marked the opening of the West Wing of the former Officers' mess – the building that will become the school's permanent home when refurbishment is completed in 2015.

Heyford Park's headteacher David Castles said: "This marks an important milestone in the history of the school.

"Opening new learning facilities and welcoming an extra 90 pupils across the primary and secondary phases of the school shows the immense progress we've made in the last 12 months.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"We want to be a school that is known for delivering a personalised education for all our students.

"With the help of our parents and partners, we hope to establish ourselves as the school of choice in our area of Oxfordshire."

The West Wing's refurbishment took five months to complete, and now houses five primary school classrooms and bathroom facilities on the ground floor.

Two of the classrooms will be used temporarily by the secondary school while other work is completed.

The school is for children aged four to 19, and teaches the core subjects such as Maths and English as well as providing a specialism in history, to reflect the site's heritage.

A campus for subjects including art, design and music will be opened at the site's former sports centre at Christmas.

It is hoped that 840 pupils will be at the school by 2019.

It comes as National eBooks Day is celebrated across the UK next Thursday.

Assault arrest

OXFORD: Police have arrested a 37-year-old man after another man was punched outside the Vodafone Shop in Cornmarket in the early hours of Saturday morning.

The victim was reportedly knocked unconscious in the seemingly unprovoked attack, which took place at around 1.15am.

Anyone with information is asked to contact PC Mark Miller on 101.

Alternatively, they can contact national charity Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Pavilion gets official opening following its refurbishment

BLACKBIRD Leys' new pavilion was officially opened on Saturday, with work on the new facility having begun back in February.

The new pavilion, which is owned by Oxford City Council, will be home to the Blackbirds and Greater Leys football clubs.

Changing rooms, officials' rooms, toilets and a tuck shop make up the building.

Mark Lygo, the council's board member for sports, events and parks, said: "This brand new pavilion will provide local teams with a high standard of facilities.

"We hope that it will increase the number of players in their various teams and see them improve in their respective leagues."

Around £430,000 was spent on the new pavilion.

Nick Courtney-Cramp, chair of Greater Leys FC, said: "The new pavilion is a huge step forwards, and puts us on a par with the rest of the county's football clubs.

"It has also helped to break down barriers between the two clubs and now we're helping each other for one great cause that is children's and youth football."

It comes as the council is building a new swimming complex at Blackbird Leys Leisure Centre in Pegasus Road, next to the pavilion.

Honour for policeman who prevented suicide

AN OFFICER who talked a man out of committing suicide in the River Thames in Wallingford last year was one of six who were recognised at a police commendation ceremony in Abingdon on Friday.

PC Dave Palfreyman received a call on January 6 last year from a staff member at the Boat House pub on High Street that a man had taken his clothes off and gone into the river.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

PC Palfreyman arrived on the scene and began speaking with the man, building up enough of a rapport with him to encourage him to get out of the freezing water.

"We started talking about his past, and he told me he was a diver," said PC Palfreyman.

"So I lied and told him I used to be a diver as well, but obviously this got us talking about a subject other than suicide, getting common ground for him to trust me.

"I've not had to negotiate with somebody to stop committing suicide before. It's just part of the job – you'd do the same again."

He received his commendation at a ceremony organised by South Oxfordshire and Vale of White Horse's police force at Abingdon's Guildhall.

Superintendent Andy Boyd, local area commander for South and Vale police, presented the commendations to the officers at the ceremony.

He said: "On a daily basis, these people are going out every day doing the most wonderful things because they care about the public.

"Crime has never been so low because these people are going out every day, putting themselves in harm's way to protect the public and ensure the wellbeing of victims of crime.

"This is our way of saying thank you to them, and of recognising the support that these officers get from their families on a daily basis.

"I am immensely proud of what they do."

• Supt Andy Boyd (left) presents the commendation to PC Dave Palfreyman

Officer's life saving effort commended

PC Sam Rendall was honoured for his efforts to save a man who had hanged himself in his garage in Morrells Close, Didcot.

PC Rendall cut the man down and performed emergency CPR for 10 minutes until the air ambulance arrived.

Even though the man later died, PC Rendall stayed to offer reassurance to the man's ex-wife, and noted everything at the scene ahead of the arrival of the forensics team.

He was commended for his selfless actions and presence of mind to preserve the scene in a ceremony at Abingdon's Guildhall last Friday.

"It was a very surreal incident," said PC Rendall. "You don't have much time to think, just to act straight away under pressure.

"It's just a case of trying to do things, and the most important thing in a situation like that is to try and preserve life, and everything else comes second to that."

Asked how he felt to receive the commendation, PC Rendall said it was "very rewarding" and he was "very pleased".

Top cops recognised for work

OTHER officers that were commended included PC Jason Walsh, who evacuated a building in Faringdon where someone had started a fire in an attempt to commit suicide.

PC Walsh tried to force entry into the flat where the fire had been started, but after realising he couldn't get in evacuated the other residents to ensure their safety.

Sergeant Aidan Donohoe and PC Chris Gibson were recognised for recovering a four kilogram bag of cannabis and £50,000 in cash after stopping a man in Chinnor.

PC Gibson was also commended for a separate incident where his team's investigation led to the arrest and conviction of three people who had tortured a man in Benson.

The victim had been taped to a chair after the offenders had broken in, with PC Gibson and fellow officers offering support to him after the ordeal.

And PCSO Mark Bell was honoured for his efforts to target burglary hotspots in Henley by selling smart water – used to mark items and make it easier to recover stolen goods.

PCSO Bell had been set a target to sell the smart water to 10 streets in Henley, although he could only achieve eight as he sold so much and ran out.

Crowds of 60,000 for Blenheim Horse Trials

MP's Corner

Nicola Blackwood

MP for Oxford West and Abingdon

Women also victims of ISIL

LAST week saw ISIL release their second video showing a British terror recruit beheading an American journalist, with the threat of more to come.

It also saw the Prime Minister raise the UK threat level and announcing new counter terror measures to protect us from British terrorists joining this revolting, bloodthirsty group.

ISIL are now fighting in five states, have a daily revenue estimated by terrorism experts of £3million, assets of £2billion and between 30,000 to 50,000 fighters.

In Iraq alone the death toll already stands at over 1,900.

ISIL are not hiding their atrocities, they are publishing them online.

Massacring people, rolling in with tanks and posting photos of severed heads on spikes is all part of this strategy.

But so is raping women and stoning them if they seek justice, imposing barbaric punishments on them for stepping out of their homes for exposing a millimetre of flesh, taking women as slaves and parading them in chains.

I am proud the UK has assisted with rescue missions and is one of the largest aid donors.

But as COBR, the EU and NATO meet to discuss whether we arm the Kurds or launch airstrikes, they also need to take into account strategies for preventing sexual violence against women and girls.

Until we get to grips with the fact violence against them is a weapon of war that makes communities vulnerable to militant control and destabilises countries for generations, we are never going to be able to respond in a meaningful way to modern conflicts.

THE 24th Blenheim Palace International Horse Trials gets underway today, with top riders from across the world in Woodstock for the four-day event.

Olympic medal winner William Fox-Pitt returns to Blenheim, with Team GB riders Tina Cook, Oliver Townend and Nicola Wilson also in action.

By Adam Flinn

adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

Pippa Funnell will be aiming to add to her four previous Blenheim wins, while Oxfordshire's Izzy Taylor will also be competing.

Today and tomorrow sees the dressage competition take place, in which a series of preset movements are judged by three leading experts.

• William Fox-Pitt at last year's Blenheim Palace International Horse Trials

Cross country and show jumping takes place on Saturday and Sunday, alongside the high jump and gate jumping challenges.

And also running over the four days will be a selection of demonstrations, displays and seminars in the grounds, as well as a shopping village.

Around 60,000 people are expected at the competition, recognised as one of the top horse freestyle competitions in Europe.

"It's very much seen as a leading freestyle event, and the general public really enjoy it," said event director Mandy Hervieu.

"While there is top level competition with the horses, there's lots of other things to do, so it's a really good weekend out.

"It's very much established in the eventing calendar."

Other highlights include a visit by Princess Anne tomorrow in her role as President of charity World Horse Welfare.

Amateur and grass roots riders will also take part in eventing classes, with cookery demonstrations also taking place in the shopping village.

PM praises Sebastian's charity soap project

AN OXFORD student who has recycled half a tonne of old soap from the city's hotels into new bars to give to charity has been recognised the Prime Minister.

Sebastian Huempfer, from Woodstock Road, set up his enterprise Clean SI8 in January last year to turn the used soap into new bars and pass them on to local charities, homeless shelters and disaster relief agencies.

He decided to start up Clean SI8 after witnessing a similar project while travelling in Hong Kong, with his enterprise being the only large scale soap recycling business in Europe.

And Sebastian received the Point of Light award from David Cameron on Tuesday for his volunteering efforts, becoming the first person from Oxfordshire ever to get one.

"I am pleased to have won a Point of Light award for my work with Clean SI8," said Sebastian.

"The volunteers I work with come from all over the UK, Europe and beyond to study at Oxford University.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"We are all glad to be able to contribute towards the city's civic life and to be recognised by the Prime Minister for the work that we do."

Sebastian is the 105th recipient of the Point of Light award in the UK, which recognises volunteering and was first established by former American President George H.W. Bush.

Prime Minister David Cameron said: "Sebastian's idea is simple but brilliant and is making a real difference to charities and his local community.

"I'm impressed that having already produced 500 new bars of soap, Sebastian now plans to expand Clean SI8 further.

"He thoroughly deserves this Point of Light award."

Clean SI8 also works with the Ley Community, an organisation that helps ex-offenders and homeless people by getting them a job.

Those involved help Clean SI8 by collecting and recycling the soap.

Nicola Blackwood, MP for Oxford West and Abingdon, added: "Oxford is a great launchpad for social enterprises and Sebastian is an inspiring winner.

"He has built an enterprise that not only helps the hotel industry tackle widespread environmental waste, but also offers ex-offenders and addicts from the Ley Community vital work opportunities.

"As a patron of Ley Community, I am grateful to Sebastian for playing his part in giving residents a second chance."

School opens its doors

A NEW school for children diagnosed with autism and Asperger's opened in Begbroke, near Kidlington, last week.

LVS Oxford, which is based at the former Begbroke Priory in Spring Hill Lane, opened its doors to staff and students on September 2.

The school provides special educational needs for people with autism and Asperger's aged 11 to 19.

Head of LVS Oxford, Jane Straw, said the school currently has 16 pupils and hopes to reach its full capacity of 72 over the next five years.

She added: "LVS Oxford will offer a structured environment as well as pastoral care to help young people with Asperger's and autism gain independence."

Sarah Sherwood, who will oversee LVS Oxford as its director of Special Educational Needs, says her vision for its pupils is employability and independent living.

"Our dedicated teaching staff and support specialists – sometimes with one on one teacher to student ratios – means that young people get the best chance to prepare for life outside of education," she said.

Facilities at the school include a sports ground, garden, teaching kitchen, and a massage and sensory room.

Back with all the classics

ICONIC rock and roll band Showaddywaddy, who released 23 chart hits in the 1970s and 1980s, come to the Oxford New Theatre on Saturday.

They became well known for their covers of music from the 1950s and 1960s.

Their rendition of 'Under the Moon of Love' became their only number one hit in 1976.

And their new show will feature all of the songs they are renowned for, including 'Three Steps to Heaven', 'Heartbeat' and 'I Wonder Why'.

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

"It's all the big hits you expect from Showaddywaddy," said the band's drummer Romeo Challenger.

"Looking at our website, we realised which ones people wanted to listen to, so the first half is some favourite songs and the second half is where we play the big nostalgic hits."

Last year Showaddywaddy celebrated their 40th anniversary with a nationwide tour, which Romeo thought went really well.

"It was fantastic, just like it used to be," he said.

"All those arena gigs were incredible, notably at the O2 (in London) which was one of the gigs I've always wanted to do."

Romeo and bass player Rod Deas are the only two members of the original line-up still playing in the band, and have since been joined by guitarist Paul Dixon, keyboard player Dean Leach, drummer and guitarist Rob Hewins, and singer Andy Pelos.

Despite the changes, Romeo believes that the style of Showaddywaddy has remained the same, with the new band members fitting in well.

He added: "We've not changed the style at all, that's the great thing about it.

"You've got to remember the reason why people are coming to these gigs is because of what we've done, not what we're going to do.

"We're thinking of putting out some new stuff at some stage, but we've got to let the band settle in as a touring concern before we think of that. But it's on the agenda."

Saturday's show starts at 7.30pm. For more information or to book tickets, call the box office on 0844 871 3020 or go to newtheatreoxford.org.uk.

Bridge Over Troubled Lager

COMEDY music duo Rory McGrath and Philip Pope bring an evening of entertaining songs to Didcot's Cornerstone theatre tomorrow night.

Bridge Over Troubled Lager sees the pair performing songs about social media, the French, and even the upcoming Scottish referendum.

Philip in particular has been writing and performing music for TV

By Adam Flinn
adam@taylornewspapers.co.uk

shows throughout his career, including Spitting Image, Outnumbered and Jonathan Creek.

Speaking about tomorrow's show, Philip said: "It's Rory and I singing comedy songs on all sorts of different subjects.

"It's not really anything to do with Simon and Garfunkel despite the silly title, but apart from that we look very similar to Simon and Garfunkel – Rory's got curly hair and I'm short!

"We've both got a history of doing music on television, so we thought we'd get out, do it ourselves and sing.

"Even if I say it myself, we're not bad!"

Rory is well known as a regular panellist on 'They Think It's All Over' and one third of 'Three Men in a Boat' alongside Dara O'Briain and Griff Rhys Jones.

He and Philip took the new show to the Edinburgh Festival over the summer where it proved popular.

"It went very well, including surprisingly a song about Scottish independence, even though I was quite scared about doing that," said Rory.

"What I think is the strength of our show is that every song is different in terms of why it's funny – some are parodies, some are silly, some are satirical and some are rude.

"The underlying thing is that Phil's a very good musician and I'm not, so there's a lot of bickering about how things should be.

"Essentially it's a collection of songs that we hope are funny and hope contrast in style, tone and comedy content."

Bridge Over Troubled Lager comes to the Cornerstone tomorrow from 8pm. For more details or to book, go to cornerstone-arts.org or phone 01235 515144.

MATT MIDGLEY - LIVE CONCERT
Matt Midgley is a Scottish solo-acoustic guitarist, singer and songwriter based in Oxfordshire. His technical percussive guitar skills and alternative folk style create an amazingly unique sound, topped with simple melodies, catchy hooks, and strong Scottish vocals.
After a hugely successful 2013 of touring, festival hopping, and collaborating with the likes of Mike Dawes and Thomas Leeb, Matt is currently working on new material which he will be showcasing this Summer.

MATT MIDGLEY - GUITAR WORKSHOP
Introduction to percussive guitar.
The workshop will be a fully unique and interactive experience. Matt will work intensively with a small number of students (max 15). The workshop will focus on many aspects of percussive guitar and will look at any struggles to employ them in your own playing.
The workshop is suitable for those acoustic guitar players of intermediate to advanced ability (2/3 years playing experience upwards).
If you would like a place and to take part in Matt's workshop, you must attend with your acoustic guitar (steel strung), in order for you to play along and take part in the lessons. By booking a place you will also be agreeing that you are the appropriate ability level on your instrument, and that you have some experience reading music notation or Tab.
This day long experience will be an exciting opportunity for aspiring percussive guitarists to work closely with a world class teacher and performer.
We expect this event to be very popular and to sell out fast. Book early to avoid disappointment.

Running for a difference

Cancer is the one word that the majority of the world is scared of. The fatal disease claims the lives of 7.6 million innocent people worldwide, with the most common cases being breast, lung, prostate and bowel in the UK.

The killer disease causes heartbreak to many families across the world, which is why A Touch of Pine general manager Gary Anderson, has had enough and has decided to make a difference.

"I decided to challenge myself and I ran the Cheltenham Half Marathon to remember the wonderful and inspiring people in my life that I have lost through cancer", Gary told the Oxfordshire Guardian.

I lost my dad Norman in 1990 and my Mother-in-Law Lesley in 2006 to this dreadful disease. My mum is also having treatment for breast cancer right now."

2,979 runners took part in the 13.1mile race on 7 September, 1,107 runners more than last year, and Gary said the more people who help out, the better.

"It's time for change and we all need to do whatever we can to get rid of this life wrecking condition.

I'm a fit and healthy individual, so this is my effort to help anyone and everyone by funding valuable research for a Cancer Free future."

Gary who has lost two relatives to cancer since 1990, completed the run in 1 hour and 58 minutes, with the help of his personal trainer John Stocker of Evolve Gym, Murdoch Road, Bicester.

Gary also praised the 'JustGiving' charity page, describing the service as 'efficient'.

"Donating through JustGiving is simple, fast and totally secure. Your details are safe with JustGiving – they'll never sell them on or send unwanted emails. Once you donate, they'll send your money directly to the charity. So it's the most efficient way to donate."

You can donate to Gary's JustGiving page by visiting www.justgiving.com/andersongary

Moulsford Preparatory School - An exceptional education

Moulsford is an all-boys prep school with more than 320 pupils on the roll. Situated in 30 acres of grounds on the banks of the River Thames, the school offers an outstanding academic, musical, sporting and cultural education underpinned by a vast range of extra-curricular activities.

The combination of our traditional prep school environment and the latest in modern technology provides the perfect environment for boys to grow up in.

Now regarded as one of the leading prep schools in the country Moulsford has a new headmaster, Mr Ben Beardmore-Gray, who moved to the school with his wife, Sarah, and their three children in August this year. Ben, who grew up in Berkshire, was the headmaster at Mowden Hall School in Northumberland for seven years before his appointment at Moulsford. Prior to this he was deputy headmaster at Farleigh in Hampshire and taught at Ludgrove in Berkshire.

At Moulsford boys begin their school life under the expert guidance of their teachers and learn to explore ideas and concepts and to think independently. With access to the full outdoor facilities that the school has to offer, pupils can explore the larger world outside their classroom ensuring full development of their individual talents and abilities. This sense of exploration and adventure continues into throughout a boy's time at Moulsford.

By the time our boys are ready to leave us they will be well-prepared to move on to the challenges of senior school. They will have a strong foundation in the arts, sciences, languages, humanities and sports. They will have learnt valuable lessons both in and out of the classroom. Above all, they will be ready to face the challenges ahead of them in life with courage, passion and determination.

The school has an enviable record of success at 13+ entry to senior schools, with more than 70 scholarships won in the past five years and all boys again were successful in gaining entry to their first choice school in 2014. Boys progress to a range of schools, both single-sex and co-educational, and full boarding, weekly boarding or day. Schools to which we send boys on a regular basis include Abingdon, Bradfield, Cokethorpe, Eton, Harrow, Magdalen College, Malvern, Marlborough, Millfield, Pangbourne, Radley, Shiplake, Stowe, St Edward's, The Oratory, Wellington and Winchester.

A number of bus routes are available with pick up and drop off points including Shiplake, Henley, Nettlebed, North End, Watlington, Roke, Benson, Tidmarsh and Upper Basildon. Full details on transport can be obtained from the school office.

Boys are normally admitted to the school in Reception at age 4+ and in Year 3 at 7+, although places occasionally arise in other year groups.

Staff and pupils would be delighted to welcome you to the open days on Friday 19th September (10am-3pm) and Saturday 20th September (9am to 12pm). Visitors will enjoy the opportunity to meet staff and pupils and enjoy a tour of the school.

Kia's serious contender

THIS third-generation Kia Sportage is the Korean firm's key contender in the highly competitive compact SUV/ crossover market.

Penned by German automotive designer Peter Schreyer, the Sportage's tall dimensions give it a premium SUV presence, enhanced by a 'tiger nose' and sharp, wrap-around headlights.

REVIEW: Kia Sportage 2.0 CRDI KX4 AWD

By Philip Shoulder

@writeonmotoring

The majority of the Sportage range is available in either two or All-Wheel Drive form, with the exception of this All-Wheel Drive only KX-4 range topper.

On the road the Sportage shows itself to be more about delivering comfort and refinement than a sharp dynamic steer.

Not that this is necessarily to its detriment - Kia's SUV actually feeling more attuned to everyday driving.

The ride is soft and pliant with a well-judged compromise between body control and handling response.

Unique to this £29,505 KX-4 is an 181bhp version of Kia's 2.0-litre CRDi turbodiesel engine.

Developing 382Nm (282lb/ft) of torque from 1,800rpm to 2,500rpm, the motor always feels strong and responsive and can propel this SUV to 60mph in 9.4 seconds and onto a top speed of 121mph (in automatic guise).

Emissions and economy aren't so great, with 189g/km of CO2 and an official combined cycle figure of 39.2mpg. However, manual models do score better on both counts (158g/km of CO2 and 46.3mpg).

Once inside, you'll instantly feel at home, thanks to large comfy leather seats, a spacious airy cabin and attractive, ergonomically sound dashboard.

The large, well positioned touchscreen system controls audio and car systems, with easy-to-use satellite navigation.

True, some plastics feel a little cheap and switchgear doesn't quite have the polish of German rivals, but these are minor niggles, all things considered.

It is a shame the front passenger seat doesn't have the height and lumber adjustment of the driver's chair.

Some may also find the rear vision a bit restricted, although this Sportage gets a reversing camera as standard.

Boot space is competitive – trouncing both the Nissan Qashqai and Skoda Yeti.

Seats up, there's 564 litres on offer. With them down this extends to 1,353 litres.

This Sportage KX-4 comes fully loaded with equipment and builds on the specification of the KX-3 Sat Nav by adding a Parallel Parking Assist System – which is complete with all-round parking sensors – a keyless smart entry system and engine stop/ start button as well as stainless steel door scuff plates.

Miserable return to top flight for Welsh

LONDON Welsh endured a miserable return to the Aviva Premiership last Sunday as they were thumped 52-0 by Exeter Chiefs at the Kassam Stadium.

Exeter ran in seven tries as the Exiles were mercilessly punished time and again.

Thomas Waldrom's two tries gave the visitors a commanding 17-0 cushion at the end of a first half in which Exeter's offloading game and Welsh missed tackles had been a feature.

And any hopes of a Welsh fight back disappeared when David Ewers crossed five minutes in to the second half.

Sam Hill touched down for the bonus point try before Ian Whitten, Jack Arnott and Chrysander Botha all got in on the act.

The defeat turned out to be a sobering re-introduction to life in top-flight rugby and with Bath on Saturday, the games do not get any easier.

Early signs had been encouraging as Olly Barkley's grubber nearly resulted in a try for Pete Browne.

But the deadlock was broken on 10 minutes when Waldrom crossed and Gareth Steenson added the first of his six conversions.

Welsh enjoyed no shortage of possession and territory, but too often coughed the ball up in promising positions.

Exeter in contrast were clinical and Waldrom forced his way over, before Barkley had chances to get Welsh on the scoreboard, but his attempts slipped left of the uprights.

To add insult to injury, Henry Slade added a penalty from just inside the Welsh half to see the Chiefs take a commanding 17-0 lead in to the break.

Exeter's fourth try was self-inflicted as a wide ball was stripped and Hill raced clear to cross the paint, before Whitten bounced off a couple of tackles to go over.

It got worse for the home side as Arnott did excellently to collect Will Chudley's box kick and sprint away for try number six.

And Botha added the seventh when he burst through a gap in the Welsh defence.

Ross bemoans squad's lack of confidence

ASSISTANT coach Gordon Ross said a lack of confidence contributed to London Welsh's opening day 52-0 defeat to Exeter Chiefs.

Exeter scored seven tries as the Exiles were given a reminder of the high standards of Aviva Premiership Rugby.

Welsh had a few chances to get on the scoreboard in the first half as Pete Browne went close before Olly Barkley missed two penalties.

Down 17-0 at half-time, the Exiles conceded a further 35 points in the second half.

Ross said: "We had opportunities we didn't take in the first half and we weren't clinical.

"On a couple of those we got turned over so you are looking at 14-point swings.

"But if we had got a few scores in the first half it would have given everyone more confidence and a bit more energy.

"Sadly we couldn't do that and I think it knocked our confidence and then we just started chasing things and lost our shape."

Welsh face Bath Rugby this Saturday and Ross is fully aware that it is another tough challenge for the Exiles.

"Hopefully we will go down to Bath and create a few more opportunities and this time try and take them," he said.

City bounce back with an emphatic win over Boston

ADI Yussuf and Kynan Isaac both scored twice as Oxford City thumped Boston United 7-2 in the Vanarama Conference North on Tuesday night.

Javi Rodriguez, Tom Winters and Jose Lapoujade also got in on the act as City put last Saturday's 8-1 drubbing by AFC Fylde well and truly behind them.

City moved up to eighth in the table following Tuesday's impressive win and manager Justin Merritt described the performance as "terrific".

"All that was bad on Saturday was good on Tuesday," said Merritt.

"We just started at such a great tempo and a positive attitude.

"It was a good pitch and good crowd and the players wanted to make amends for Saturday and they certainly did that. It was a terrific performance."

Merritt added: "Everybody was a bit shocked on Saturday and I felt it was out of character and we hadn't shown those holes throughout the other games.

"We got everybody motivated and went out to beat Boston and to stamp our mark on the game and that's exactly what they did."

City welcome 11th placed Gainsborough Trinity to Marsh Lane on Saturday at 3pm.

Barnett joins U's on loan but Hoskins is out until January

OXFORD United have boosted their attacking options with the signing of Tyrone Barnett on a 93-day loan.

The 28-year-old came close to a permanent move to the Kassam Stadium last week, but arrived on loan from Peterborough United yesterday.

Barnett, who moved to Peterborough from Crawley Town for £1.1million in February 2012, will go straight into Michael Appleton's side for Saturday's trip to Exeter City.

Appleton said: "Tyrone is a proven goalscorer at this level.

"He is a strong lad, has pace and is always going to cause defences problems.

"We are delighted that he is here and we are really looking forward to working with him."

hours after fellow new signing Will Hoskins was ruled out until January with a groin injury.

The 28-year-old tore a tendon in his groin during last Saturday's 1-1 draw at Southend United.

An MRI scan on Tuesday showed an avulsion of his abductor tendon and he is likely to need an operation.

Head coach Michael Appleton described the news as a "big blow".

"Will had started to look sharp and was linking things together at the top of the pitch for us," added Appleton.

"But he is in good spirits and he is staying very positive about the situation."

Hoskins joined United on a one-year deal after leaving Brighton & Hove Albion in the summer.

The 28-year-old had not played since suffering knee ligament damage in February 2013.

Hoskins tweeted on Sunday: "So many things are thrown in my way but I have to bounce back.

"I will not be defeated and will not back down."

Meanwhile Appleton says he does not want to lose his temper with his players again after Oxford United's second half fightback last Saturday.

Danny Hylton's 67th minute penalty cancelled out Jack Payne's opener as United claimed their second point of the season.

And Appleton revealed he lost his temper at half time for the first time this season after a poor first half performance.

"In the first half we showed them too much respect and I suppose the respect we got from them is that they changed their system," he told the club.

"But the way the players came out in the second half and passed the ball and drove forward there was only going to be one winner.

"We got the goal back and we went again and it took me to lose my rag for the first time at half time.

"I don't want to do that because I want the players to play with no fear and we certainly saw that in the second half."

United are currently sitting second from bottom in Sky Bet League Two having taken two points from a possible 18 so far this season.

Wantage trio to return for FA Cup tie

WANTAGE Town welcome Jimmy Deabill, Ritchie Guy and Brad Shaw back to the squad for their FA Cup first qualifying round tie against Flackwell Heath on Saturday.

Deabill and Guy were unavailable for Tuesday's 4-1 defeat at Stratford Town, while Shaw missed the game through injury.

Jack Smith will also feature after joining on loan from Eastleigh, while Lee Henderson is cup-tied.

And Freds' boss Gary Ackling said Hellenic Premier Division side Flackwell will fancy their chances of a cup shock this weekend.

"They have already disposed of North Leigh and I think they will be quietly confident about putting us out," said Ackling.

"We know what to expect, it's a small pitch and they are usually quite a physical side, but if we stand up like we did on Tuesday with the same effort and commitment we have got a chance."

Wantage's 4-1 loss to Stratford in Division One South & West on Tuesday leaves them 18th in the table after eight games.

And Ackling admitted that luck is currently not on Wantage's side.

"That's the trouble when you are struggling down the wrong end of the league," he said.

"Last season a lot of things fell for us and that comes with winning matches."

Wantage progressed to the first qualifying round of the FA Cup after a 3-2 win over Kidlington in the preliminary round a fortnight ago.

A win on Saturday would see Wantage Town claim £3,000 in prize money.

Smith upbeat ahead of San Marino after Silverstone disaster

OXFORD MotoGP rider Bradley Smith will be hoping for better luck at this weekend's San Marino Grand Prix after a disastrous home race last time out.

A cracked wheel cost Smith a potential sixth place at Silverstone on August 31, meaning he eventually crossed the line a lap down in 22nd place.

But Smith is optimistic of a strong result in Sunday's race, which takes place at the Italian circuit of Misano.

"I can't wait to get going in Misano and I feel supremely confident of clinching a good result here this weekend," said Smith.

"It was disappointing to complete my home race the way I did, which prevented any chances of home glory but what's over is over and I intend to take a firm finish as a late thank you to my fans.

"There will be some work to undertake for the team and I, but I believe we can have a strong result at Misano."

Smith is 10th in the championship standings with 65 points, 23 behind team-mate Pol Espargaro. Marc Marquez leads the series with 288 points.

Plato moves to second but writes off title hopes

TWO podiums moved Jason Plato into second in the British Touring Car Championship at Rockingham on Sunday, but the Oxford-based driver has written off his chances of taking the title.

Plato came third in the first race of the day at the Northamptonshire circuit, moving up to second in race two after overtaking his team-mate Sam Tordoff.

He dropped back to seventh in the final race of the day, but the points collected moved him above Honda's Gordon Shedden in the championship table.

But Plato doesn't think a title push will be possible, with him sitting 55 points behind series leader Colin Turkington.

"It's been a good weekend for the team, we've taken the best results we could," said Plato.

"It's great to be ahead of Gordon, but it isn't what it seems, as there are two championships here – a championship for one car and a championship for the rest.

"You may as well give Colin the championship now. I'm not taking anything away from Colin as a driver, but my aim as the season has progressed to be best of the rest."

The penultimate event of the season takes place at Silverstone on September 28.

Victorious Quins

OXFORD Harlequins began life back in National League 3 South West with a commanding 46-13 win over Bournemouth last Saturday.

Zac Norris (3), Jack Robinson (2) and Seisoni Tupou all crossed the white wash as Quins dominated their south coast opponents.

Quins travel to Brixham on Saturday, looking to build upon last week's bonus point victory.

Kyle departs

KYLE Flemington has left Oxford City Stars for Elite Ice Hockey side Edinburgh Capitals just days before the start of the season.

The Canadian defenceman only joined the Stars in the summer.

Stars begin their National Ice Hockey League South One campaign with an away trip to Invicta Dynamos on Saturday before welcoming Cardiff Devils to Oxford on Sunday.

Opening defeat

GROVE were beaten 35-13 by Swindon on the opening day of the South West 1 East season last Saturday.

They face Towcestrians at home this Saturday, who beat Devizes 25-12 last weekend.

Training pays off as Simpson fires her way to National bronze

OXFORD archer Nichola Simpson claimed bronze in the Women's Compound National Series at Wollaton Park, Nottingham, last Sunday.

Simpson beat Andrea Gales 141-139 to take bronze in a tense third-place play-off match.

Naomi Jones claimed gold after a nail biting final against defending champion and double Paralympic gold medallist Danielle Brown.

Simpson, a member of the Oxford Archers, said she didn't expect to win a medal.

"It feels fantastic to win; I didn't expect it at all," she said.

"I've been training with my coach and other archers at my club, the Oxford Archers, so that has paid off."

She continued: "The National Series Finals are a great competition, especially for those who are new to the sport, so it was a great day."

MILLS' GOALS KEEP COMING

Top-scorer bags third hat-trick in nine games as Didcot beat Evesham

JOHN Mills scored his third hat-trick of the season to fire Didcot Town to a 3-1 win over Evesham United in Division One South & West on Tuesday night.

Mills, who has now netted 13 goals in nine games so far this season, cancelled out Sean Wood's opener before the break and added two to his tally in the second half.

The Railwaymen are now two games unbeaten in the league and are eighth in the table.

And joint manager Ian Concannon said he is running out of compliments for his top scorer.

"That's three hat-tricks this season and I think he had four shots all night and three went in, but that's Millsy for you," Concannon added.

"You don't need to give him too many chances and that puts him on 13 league goals and that is a terrific return.

"I'm pleased for Millsy, but it's what we expect now and he's put himself under a bit of pressure by scoring all these goals and he's got to keep doing it."

Concannon was also full of praise for goalkeeper James Foster who saved a penalty with the scoreline at 2-1.

"Fozzy, like he has been since he joined us, has been fantastic," said Concannon.

"His kicking and distribution was good on Tuesday, his shot stopping was good and he pulled off a crucial save at a crucial time.

"When you have got people like Millsy at one end of the pitch who is putting crosses away and a goalie at the other end who is saving penalties you have got a great chance."

Didcot have a free Saturday this weekend due to their early FA Cup exit at the hands of Beaconsfield SYCOB.

And while Concannon would like Didcot to maintain their unbeaten momentum, he also sees it as an opportunity to give his players a rest.

"With a league game or any game, if you're winning you want to keep playing games to keep building on that momentum," said Concannon.

"On the flip side of the coin we have got a few boys carrying little niggles and it might just do them good to give them a rest."
